Finding Your Light In REAL ESTATE Photography Intro

BIO: Roamy has been a PPA member since 2014 and became a CPP in 2018. He is just a few merits shy to qualify for his Photographic Craftsman degree. He is a Certified FAA sUAS Remote Pilot as well as a Zillow Certified Photographer. Roamy has been operating Beat-Mining Productions, Inc. for 15 years servicing NY/NJ/CT; specializing in Real Estate, Product, Portraits, Headshots and Event photography. This year he became an affiliate member to HVPPSNY and PPSNYS as well as teaching PPA's Photography Spring/Fall Workshops out of his studio in Airmont, NY.

Real Estate Photography may seem difficult and even high pressure, but with a little know-how, you can start creating outstanding images right away. Join Roamy as he teaches you how to add Real Estate Photography as an additional stream of income.

You will learn:

- Minimal Gear Required
- Simplistic methods in lighting
- New type of networking opportunities
- Upselling Services
- And many more...

A Message from Our President

Last month's meeting featured Sherrie Fryxell who clearly showed why "presentation" of an image for print competitions is so important. She then shared her methods of creating a variety of top-notch mats in Photoshop to enhance our images. I think that all those in attendance learned a lot and I also imagine that the images we will be seeing at our next Image Competitions will show some great improvement in how they are presented. Thank you, Sherrie!

This meeting was held in a new location for us: Perkins on Rt. 300 in Newburgh. Everybody ordered something from the menu and paid their own bill. The restaurant was very accommodating in giving us separate checks and the waitress took all our orders without writing anything down! We had a private room, and the music could be turned off. This setting lent itself to a more informal, private and comfortable meeting experience. Our meeting on November 16 will be at the same location.

Next month's meeting will feature Roamy Fils-Aime with a presentation entitled, "Finding Your Light in Real Estate Photography." I personally attended his PPA Fall Workshop in Real Estate Photography and found that it was very worthwhile. I came away from the experience learning a great deal about shooting for real estate as well as things to be aware of and look for in general architectural photography. I'm sure that Roamy's presentation for us will have something for all of us!

November's meeting will also feature our "Print of the Year Competition!" Be sure to look over the images you have previously entered in HVPPS Print Comps during 2022 and select those that you would like to enter in the Print of the Year Competition. This might be a great time to add a beautiful new mat to your images!

I am greatly looking forward to seeing you all again in our new meeting space. Until then, have a great month!
